

Senior Online Learning Designer

Tiffin University was established in 1888 and now offers nationally accredited graduate and undergraduate degrees in Business Administration, top-notch bachelor's and master's degrees in Criminal Justice and Social Sciences, and distinctive degrees in the Arts and Sciences. All through our history, the University has nurtured a student-centered setting and a strong sense of real community for our students, faculty and staff. Tiffin University has always believed in offering the highest quality education – “an education for life.”

The main campus in Tiffin is a beautiful 130-acre blend of traditional historic and modern buildings that create a vibrant and warm home for an educational community. In addition to the growth in Tiffin, TU graduate and undergraduate programs are offered online and at Cincinnati, Columbus, Fremont, Toledo, and at several sites in the Greater Cleveland area. The MBA is also offered at Bucharest, Romania.

From academic programs in sports and recreation management to homeland security/terrorism, communication and management, TU offers more than 25 majors through on-campus and online learning that result in real advantages for our students.

GENERAL JOB DESCRIPTION

Under the direction of the Director of Learning Design, the Senior Online Learning Designer actively collaborates and engages with faculty to design and build engaging “next generation” credit and non-credit online courses in accordance with established processes and practices. By serving as an experienced voice for innovative design approaches, the Senior Online Learning Designer ensures the development and deployment of student-driven for-credit and not-for-credit curricula which feature a distinctive learner experience and meet (or exceed) the university’s standards for quality.

MAJOR DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

[90%] Manage online course production process from design and planning through course launch, generating on time, aligned, and complete deliverables.

- Collaborate with Subject Matter Experts (SME) to design and build engaging online courses, assessments and activities in accordance with established processes and practices.
 - Provide guidance and support to SME through each stage of course development.
 - Foster faculty “buy-in” for online course delivery strategies
 - Advocate for positive learning outcomes and user experience
 - Use eLearning authoring tools to design and develop interactive learning solutions
 - Work with TU Library Staff to identify potential course resources and material
 - Manage intake and organization of digital assets throughout course development process
 - Utilize rapid design and development strategies as needed to support the creation of interactive content
 - Create course materials which follow Universal Design Principles
 - Adhere to product schedules to produce quality deliverables for multiple projects.

- Implement university outcomes assessment activities in the context of specific courses.
- Seek out and engage with opportunities to think creatively and find innovative solutions to online course delivery challenges
- Build cross-functional coalitions to support the sustainable, scalable, and accessible integration of “principles of good practice” in online course design.
 - Demonstrate a commitment to learning new and emerging technologies and instructional design, assist in the assessment of their impact on teaching and learning.

[5%] Research, test, and recommend innovative ID and quality assurance strategies and models for potential adoption.

- Contribute to the QA process to assure course build quality, manageability, and accessibility.
- Remain current on educational technologies by engaging in professional development activities, research, peer collaboration, and publication or conference presentation.
- Maintain an active instruction portfolio by teaching (as appropriate and/or available) to retain currency in the field. (Courses taught at TU will be taught as “overload,” not to exceed one seated or 2 online per semester, and not to exceed 4 courses per year total).

[5%] Contribute to the strategic evolution of the COEL

- Actively participate in and meaningfully contribute to strategic discussions and on-going planning processes related to the COEL.
- Perform other duties as assigned by the Director of Instructional Design, or the Vice Provost.
